

Spring is on the horizon and as we travel towards it, we will see some new classes from smOdyssey. March will feature our CPR Certification Class, April will see our Whips Class, and May will premier our “Kinky Craft” event, making cool tote bags for your toys from kink convention t-shirts. Our Tea Service program was super popular, and we hope to expand on that topic in the future. Do you have ideas for a class you’d like to take, a skill you’d like to learn, or something fun you’d like to do with kinky friends? Let us know! Shoot a message to education@smodysey.com.

We are finalizing our revised reciprocity agreement, looking forward to establishing relationships (consensual, of course!) with other kink organizations near and far. We are now supporting (again) the National Coalition for Sexual Freedom and we’re feeling pretty damned good about that. We will soon add an extensive list of BDSM conferences and events around the world to our website’s resources page. And our new Reno chapter is coming together and, we hope, will be up and running soon.

Do you have a little free time? Do you enjoy being of service? Consider helping us out at smOdyssey. We need a few people with a little extra time (maybe an hour each month?) to help us with marketing and education. Most of the work can be done on your computer, from wherever you are, at whatever time works for you. If you can help, even a little bit, please contact secretary@smodysey.com. Thank you! Free homemade cookies available for volunteers. 😊

And, if you haven’t done this before, please let us know if you received this newsletter by replying to this email. Some of our members are not receiving it and we’re trying to sort it out. Are you finding the newsletter useful? What would you like to hear? Let us know.
